These grants may be used to enhance existing humanities programs, resources, or courses, or to develop new ones. Applicants are encouraged to draw on the knowledge of outside scholars who would contribute expertise and fresh insights to the project. | January 10, 2018 (Wednesday)  | Media Projects: Production Grants                       | National Endowment for the Humanities    | The Media Projects program supports film, television, and radio projects that engage general audiences with humanities ideas in creative and appealing ways. All projects must be grounded in humanities scholarship in disciplines such as history, art history, film studies, literature, drama, religious studies, philosophy, or anthropology. Projects must also demonstrate an approach that is thoughtful, balanced, and analytical (rather than celebratory). The approach to the subject matter must go beyond the mere presentation of factual information to explore its larger significance and stimulate critical thinking. NEH is a national funding agency, so the projects that we support must demonstrate the potential to attract a broad general audience. | Performing Arts/Art History                          | $100,000 to $650,000 | https://www.neh.gov/files/grants/media-projects-production-aug-9-2017.pdf               | https://www.neh.gov/files/grants/media-projects-production-aug-9-2017.pdf                           |                    |            |  |

It exists almost exclusively online, using the Internet for publicity, fundraising, all internal communications, and even to develop, produce, and distribute intellectual property. Borne from a Usenet newsgroup, and started in a mailing list, Mockingbird now utilizes blogs, forums, RSS feeds, Twitter, and Facebook; publishes content to a dozen other sites through a set of APIs, and to four mobile device "apps" through strategic partnerships; and develops internal guidelines and draft content in Google Docs. | July 19, 2018 (Thursday)  | Humanities Collections and Reference Resources       | National Endowment for the Humanities | The Humanities Collections and Reference Resources (HCRR) program supports projects that provide an essential underpinning for scholarship, education, and public programming in the humanities. Thousands of libraries, archives, museums, and historical organizations across the country maintain important collections of books and manuscripts, photographs, sound recordings and moving images, archaeological and ethnographic artifacts, art and material culture, and digital objects. Funding from this program strengthens efforts to extend the life of such materials and make their intellectual content widely accessible, often through the use of digital technology. Awards are also made to create various reference resources that facilitate use of cultural materials, from works that provide basic information quickly to tools that synthesize and codify knowledge of a subject for in-depth investigation. | Humanities                       | $50,000   | https://www.neh.gov/files/grants/humanities-collections-reference-resources-july-20-2017.pdf | https://www.neh.gov/files/grants/humanities-collections-reference-resources-july-20-2017.pdf |                    |            |  |
